Construction Process

This month we are going to have Charlie Atwell from the Blue Book building and Construction Network. During his 8 years with The Blue Book Network, Charlie has partnered with companies in all phases of commercial construction, from design through post-construction.

The presentation is an overview of some of the free tools The Blue Book offers to Building Owners, Building Managers and FM's to facilitate their work flow (bidding, product sourcing, plan room, concierge service, etc.).

Currently, Charlie is serving as the Private Project Consultant for Colorado and Wyoming. He is focused on sharing project news and information to streamline project workflow for the commercial construction industry. He is committed to educating the industry on the company's information resources and workflow tools, as well as strengthening partnerships with key organizations in our Network of Owners, Architects, Engineers, Facility Managers, Property Managers and Contractors.
